A message from Frennilyn and Corrine

Warmest greetings from all of us here at Tasman as we move into the beginning of a new decade!

The first newsletter of the year is an opportune time to introduce our new Operations Manager here at Tasman Rest Home. Corrine Coombe has moved into the role after eight previous years working as the Accounts and Payroll Administrator for Dementia Care NZ. Corrine brings with her a wealth of experience, previously working in education, catering, governance and a combined 12 years working for Healthcare organisations. Corrine is looking forward to continuing to work with all the staff and residents that she has known over her years of being in the office behind the rest home.

Soon we will be undertaking a renovation process to extend and improve Aio, our Dementia Level Hospital. During the building process there will be some inconvenience, noise and dust, but where we can we will minimise the disturbance as much as possible and reduce the stress of this process for our residents.

The Christmas season at Tasman was a busy and happy one. As always, one of the highlights of the year was our traditional Christmas family gathering. This was very well attended by family members and friends, and we all enjoyed the opportunity to celebrate the festive season together. Our diversional therapy team also worked with residents to decorate the rest home most beautifully for the festive season, with a competition held between the homes.

Our focus on getting out and about and involving residents in community activities continued over December and January, with a van outing to see the Christmas lights in town, as well as a visit to a local kindergarten to meet the children and listen to them sing Christmas carols.

Our diversional therapy focus has been on enjoying the outdoors and making the most of the summer weather while it lasts. We have been enjoying picnics at the beach, watching kites fly and taking care of our gardens. We have also been utilising the long summer days to have BBQ's and garden picnics and ice cream cones and cold lemonade as treats on the warmer afternoons. These are in addition to our other regular activities such as the ever-popular cooking club, where delicious treats are baked for us all to enjoy. Our music group find plenty of opportunities to entertain us; their rendition of "How much is that doggy in the window" is a real treat for the ears.

We love our furry friends here at Tasman,. Along with daily visits from Bodhi, several of our families also bring in their dogs, and some mornings we can have up to four dogs on site. It brings so much joy to all our residents to be able to be around animals. If you would like to bring a pet in to visit a resident please discuss with the operations manager first, so we can make sure we can accommodate needs appropriately and safely.

We join is wishing you a wonderful 2020. Remember you are always welcome here at Tasman – please make a point of popping in to say hello to Corrine in the office next time you visit your loved one.

Dealing with the heat of summer

As we continue through the warmer months some families express concern regarding the comfort and welfare of our residents on very hot days.

An article published in the NZACA's Insight magazine in August 2018 acknowledged that indoor temperatures in aged care homes could have a dramatic impact on the wellbeing of residents, particularly those with dementia, according to research out of Australia.

The World Health Organisation suggests that older people should not be exposed to temperatures lower than 20 degrees, while the International Organisation for Standardisation recommends maximum temperatures not exceed 26 degrees.

The study noted that it was interesting that residents felt comfortable over a wider range of temperatures than staff members.

It has been suggested that we consider installing air conditioning in our rest homes for use in the warmer months. This has in fact been done at some of our rest homes, but is not an unqualified success and has itself led to complaints. People experience temperatures differently, and older people in particular tend to feel extremes of cold more than those of heat. Temperatures which active younger people find distressingly hot are not experienced as such by everyone, especially those who are not mobile.

We have complaints of 'drafts' from residents who do not enjoy the sensation of cool air indoors. Everyone has different preferences. People of our residents' generation are not usually used to air conditioning, as this was not common in family homes of their era. They are accustomed to being hot in summer and cool in winter. It is generally not harmful for them to experience seasonality in this way, and may even provide opportunities for conversation and reminiscence.

Our care staff, under the guidance of our Registered Nursing team, are aware of the effects of hot weather on the elderly and of the importance of ensuring that this is appropriately managed. Measures for doing so include the following:

- Take residents out into the garden area and let them enjoy the shade under the trees
- Ensure residents are wearing loose, light clothing
- Keep doors and windows open, especially door to the outside garden area
- Keep fluid rounds regular, and encourage residents to drink often
- Keep fans on and air circulating as much as possible

Rest assured that we will do all we can to keep our residents happy and comfortable during the summer months.

Diana, one of our family members, generously volunteers her time to share her love of baking

A night to remember: residents enjoyed a trip to see the Christmas lights

The importance of flu vaccination

As summer draws to an end we ask you to begin thinking about the annual influenza vaccination which is offered free of charge to all residents.

We strongly advise EPOAs to take advantage of this to protect their loved one from the serious effects of the dangerous strains of influenza which are prevalent every winter.

There is a very clear correlation between those residents who struggle with persistent ill health over winter, and those who did not have the flu vaccine.

Please choose to vaccinate this winter, and help your loved one stay well!

Our amazing staff team

Reflecting on the blank page before me I see faces pass across it like a slideshow: the faces of our staff.

Real faces of real people I work alongside, chat with, and pass by each day.

Some of them are so young it astonishes me. Some are older.

Some are Kiwis, some from other countries close by, and some from far across the world.

Every single one of the faces I see is smiling.

One of the things that brings me most pleasure in my role is receiving positive feedback from residents and family members about our staff. At least once a week a letter, a card or a returned survey is received by our admin team praising them. "Do you know how wonderful your staff team is?" I am often asked. In fact no-one knows it better than Jim and I do. Why? Because we are around and about a lot, and our job is to notice things.

It's the job of the facility manager to be the boss, the 'face' of the rest home, the contact person for family members, and to know each and every resident individually. It's their job to lead the staff team, to recognise their achievements, to mentor, coach and guide them. It's their job to ask them to do things, and to thank them when they do.

A long time ago I was the Operations Manager of not one but two facilities, and I miss the close contact with staff that brought.

Most of all, I miss it being my job to say "Thank you." Thank you for taking the time to explain that this is a lemon soufflé dessert and will taste delicious. Thank you for stopping work for a minute or two to join a game of balloon catch. Thank you for pausing to sit down and listen – really listen. Thank you for sharing a joke and laughing together. Thank you for keeping our home bright and shining. Thank you for singing when you work. Thank you for bringing your own home, your culture and your family to work with you, invisible but always present. Thank you for your warmth, your care, and your generosity in sharing your time, energy and love.

Our staff are awesome and I am privileged to work alongside them.

Thank you for letting us know that you appreciate them too.

On New Year's Eve a few of our residents enjoyed a special outing to the Broadgreen Rose Gardens

An invitation to our Facebook page: "Tasman Rest Home"

Have you visited our Facebook page yet? If not, we warmly invite you to pay a visit and 'like' the page by clicking the button below the bannerhead. Any future posts will then come straight to your newsfeed.

In response to family suggestions we have a strong focus on using the Facebook page to provide fresh, topical stories and photos about life in our home. Stories include outings, cooking and baking, gardening, special occasions, staff changes and other items of interest.

With permission, we use photos of residents and family members to honour them and the energy and love they bring to our home.

We love receiving comments on the posts to keep the page fun and interactive.

It's your forum, so please come on board and join us!

Concerns and complaints: your gift to us

As we strive each day to provide the very best possible care to our residents, it can sometimes be hard to identify where changes are required to improve upon the service that we provide.

We would like to say a special thank you to each and every one of you for providing us with feedback, either positive or negative. We really appreciate your honesty and the time it takes to let us know when things have not gone quite the way you would wish. Your concerns and complaints provides the opportunity for us to pass on this feedback to all our staff and take corrective action when needed, as part of our ongoing quality improvement programme.

Please remember that our door is always open. You are welcome to pop in for a cup of tea and a chat.

Caring for possessions

Occasionally we have incidents of treasured jewellery, especially rings, going missing. We would like to remind you of the importance of taking residents' rings away home with you.

It is important to stress that we cannot be responsible for any loss of property, and that this is very likely to occur, especially in an environment where people with dementia are cared for.

If a resident has a strong sentimental attachment to a particular ring, we suggest that you consider substituting an inexpensive copy for the original,

Please ensure that any complaint is made directly to either Frennilyn or Corrine. If they are not available then the complaint can be made in writing on a complaint form to ensure that it goes through the correct investigation and resolution process. Complaints forms are readily available in the entrance foyer. If you have trouble finding one, please ask a member of staff.

Advocacy Services (0800 555 050) are available to assist you if required.

We always welcome your ideas and concerns, and your loved one will never be disadvantaged by anything you may share with us.

which can then be kept safely by your family.

We require all clothing to be named upon admission, and any new items to be clearly marked before they arrive. Names or initials written with laundry pen onto existing clothing labels are not sufficient. Commercially printed labels either sewn on or ironed on will significantly reduce the likelihood of clothing being misplaced.

Please remember that we discourage expensive woollen items, which are easily damaged in the wash. Please select easy care clothing wherever possible.

A highlight of the festive season here at Tasman is the traditional Christmas Family Gathering.
